An Introduction to Ancient Runes

Can you decipher the messages?

A note from the Editor

Welcome to this very special edition of The Quibbler brought to you by the lovely young Witches and Wizards who visited our roving office at Castle Cornet on 17th February 2018!

We are delighted to share with you some brilliant and fantastical potions entered to this year's Annual Potion Competition. Why not try The Smeller on a friend or even yourself? We, however for safety reason, suggest that the Fizz Bang is for academic purposes only (see p.4!)

Why not test out some fun new charms? Wands at the ready and see p.8!

As future or current Hogwarts students, we hope to whet your appetite with the fascinating language of Ancient Runes. Turn to p.10 for a quick introduction, then test your skills at translation! You'll find all the answers at the back of this edition.

Or investigative journalist Marguerite interviewed Mr. Arthur Weasley—check it out on p.18. Last, and definitely not least, we are excited to share with you our readers' depictions of so-called 'mythical' creatures (p.14). As believers, I'm sure you will have spied some of these yourself too.

Fun New Charms!

As you all know, a charm is a spell that may add properties to an object, creature or person—it changes what that object does. When muggles go to a football match, announcements are made using a piece of equipment called a loudspeaker. However, we witches and wizards instead use the amplifying charm known as Sonorus at our Quidditch matches. Much easier!

Charms are one of the key classes taught at Hogwarts, beginning in the first year. They are a witch and wizards bread and butter. We have therefore invited a few avid readers to submit their most fun or elaborate charms. I'm sure you will enjoy learning them. Though please take care they don't have unintended consequences! The Quibbler will not take responsibility for underage magic that goes awry!!

Bone crash

Finley Martin, Gryffindor, Age 6

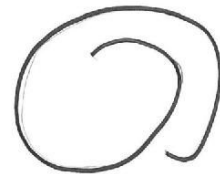

This spell will break your bones!

Lakamava

Johnny, Ravenclaw, Age 9

This spell makes a animal appear out of thin air

Professor Snape

Imogen Torode, Gryffindor, Age 6

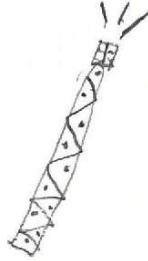

This spell turns Professor Snape into a frog

Do Homework

Emma Feist, Gryffindor, Age 10

This spell makes it

Magical Creatures

Readers of the Quibbler may be familiar with many magical creatures from the magnificent hippogriff to the mischievous thieving niffler. Here is a little reminder ahead of you starting your first term at Hogwarts!

A Niffler was a creature with a long snout and a coat of black, fluffy fur. They were attracted to shiny things, which made them wonderful for locating treasure, but this also means that they could wreak havoc if kept (or set loose) indoors. Nifflers in general were usually harmless.

The Bowtruckle is immensely difficult to spot, being a hand-sized, insect-eating tree dweller with long sharp fingers, brown eyes, and a general appearance of a flat-faced stick figure made of bark and twigs, which serves well as camouflage in its natural habitat. The Bowtruckle can be found in western England, southern Germany, and certain Scandinavian forests. It serves as a tree guardian for its home tree, which is usually a tree whose wood is of wand quality. The twig-like fingers are well adapted for digging out wood lice in trees and can also be used as a weapon against a foe when aimed at the eyes. It is generally a peaceful creature but will become violent if anything threatens its tree or itself. To take leaves or wood from a

Bowtruckle's tree one would have to offer it wood lice or fairy eggs as a distraction.

A Hippogriff is a magical creature that has the front legs, wings, and head of a giant eagle and the body, hind legs and tail of a horse. Hippogriffs are carnivorous and are extremely dangerous until tamed, which should only be attempted by a trained witch or wizard. The diet of the Hippogriff consists mainly of insects, birds, and small mammals such as ferrets. When Humans approach Hippogriffs, a proper etiquette must be maintained to avoid danger. Hippogriffs are intensely proud creatures, and an individual must show proper respect by bowing to them, and waiting for them to bow in return before approaching. Eye contact should be maintained at all times, without a single blink.

A Thestral is a breed of winged horse with a skeletal body, face with reptilian features, and wide, leathery wings that resemble a bat's. They are very rare, and are considered dangerous by the Ministry of Magic. They are visible only to those who have witnessed death at least once.

There are a number of creatures that the Ministry of Magic refer to as Imaginary or Mythical. However, we at the Quibbler believe that these are simply rare and interesting creatures that evade the Ministries watch! Our young witches and wizards have been on the look out for such creatures and sent in drawings of their sightings. We hope you enjoy them!

An interview with Mr. Arthur Weasley

www.owendavey.com

As most of you will know, Mr. Arthur Weasley works at the Ministry of Magic, having started in the Misuse of Muggle Artefacts Office after graduating from Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry.

He is the head of the Weasley family, married to Mrs. Molly Weasley and together they have seven children: Bill, Charlie, Percy, Fred, George, Ron and Ginevra (Ginny). He is, rather famously now, a member of the Order of the Phoenix.

Our intrepid reporter, Marguerite, caught up with Mr. Weasley at Castle Cornet recently where he was recounting stories and, of course, collecting information from young witches and wizards on muggle items!

Quibbler: Delighted to meet you Mr. Weasley. On behalf of our Quibbler readers, I have a few questions for you. Firstly, can you tell us what house you were sorted into when you first arrived at Hogwarts?

Mr. Arthur Weasley: Absolutely, I'm a Gryffindor through and through!

Q: And do you have a favourite spell?

AW: Oh yes! I absolutely love Ridikulus! It's hilarious and most useful. Imagine being able to turn your worst nightmare into something so silly that you cannot stop laughing!

Q: Are you, or have you ever been, an animagus like Professor McGonagell?

AW: Oh no, I'm just a regular wizard. Sorry about that!

Q: What was your favourite subject when you were at Hogwarts, sir?

AW: Oh well, that's easy! Muggle Studies, of course!

Q: Of course! And may we ask you a personal question? How old are you? Only Professor Dumbledore is very old and we were just wondering...

AW: [laughing] Oh goodness! Well wizards are meant to get wiser as they get older, yes? So let's say I'm 445. [Giggles uncontrollably]

Q: So, have you ever seen a wrackspurt? Luna is very keen on them. She has everyone hunting around the Castle today for them with their spectrespecs on.

AW: Ah, no, I have never seen one of Luna's little wrackspurts, sorry.

Q: What is your favourite potion ingredient, Mr. Weasley?

AW: Ooh, easy. Mandrake. But make sure you have your ear muffs on!

Q: And finally, a tough one for you. Who is your favourite son?

AW: Oh, that's cheeky! Ok, just between you and me, it's Ron. But don't tell him!

Well there you go, readers! We hope that tickled your fancy. Our thanks to Maguerite for her interview skills. And, of course, a big thank you to Mr. Arthur Weasley for taking the time to chat with the Quibbler.

If you would like to become a roving reporter for the Quibbler and have an idea for an interview, please get in touch!
